Business COMPASS

🧭 The single source of truth every agent reads before it does anything. If a fact about the business isn't here, an agent must ask rather than assume.

How this page works

Humans own this page. AI may help with sections 1–8 only through interview → proposal → your confirmation → then the edit. It never rewrites strategy on its own, and it never invents a number, a result, a quote, a client or a credential.

Section 9 is human-only. No agent edits it, ever.

how badly do you want to build a business or is it a side hustle?

This is my official "Praise this Accelerator" post. TL;DR: I love it!

This year I managed to narrow down a very complex idea into a feasible business. Along the way, my use of AI shifted from wild brainstorming in chats to more structured work for research and coding.
AI made me feel confident and capable enough to even start this whole thing. But as I progressed, I began to feel overwhelmed by tasks I had no experience with at all, and I was missing clarity and focus.
When I came across this Accelerator, I knew I already had a lot on my plate and wasn't sure I could keep up with the program. But I was so curious – and today, after finally taking action I have to say my present and future self are already aligned again in joy and confidence 🤗
I'm a little behind on the curriculum – but tonight I after I sat down, filled out the docs, copied the instructions, tried the prompts I could feel the difference instantly. This is my new AI era – I feel empowered to take my company to the next level!

Hi everyone, my audacious action last week was getting the order right. My North Star, COMPASS and Business Hub showed me my hours go first to selling the stock I have. The new collection and holiday edit still is very important, but its second. I built a new campaign (for my existing stock) and reached out to a friend and marketing partner for support, who came back faster than I expected. Next, the campaign goes live on my @wovenmirage Instagram , and I am so excited! Feeling audacious 100%, I love all the support here. I'm grateful.

My big win is creating four agents to handle social media. I am in the pet wellness space, so working on seeding our new product to creators who care deeply about their dogs.

I created Agent 1 Scout: does all the research, finding the creators that fit the criteria (e.g., must be active on IG and TikTok, fits into our current cohort (doxies!) and has a certain number of followers.

Sniff (Agent 2): It reviews replies, sends nudges, asks for addresses, and watches tags and mentions Fetch (Agent 3): Once someone expresses interest, we have Agent 3, Fetch, pull the address and create the order in Shopify. It sends tracking messages, checks delivery and sends the Day 5 and Day 14 messages, asking if they received it and thoughts.

Wag (Agent 4): Supporting our creators with weekly engagement. It likes or comments on posts, always engaging with them and showing apprecaition.

Onboarding Essential
What is DFX?
DFX is a private, subscription-based community that connects founders, investors, and ecosystem leaders through a social marketplace designed to accelerate capital raising. We focus on the lower to middle market and are industry-agnostic. Our mission is to support founders and investors in having more meaningful conversations, which is why we require investors to filter their search and engage first—our no-solicitation approach is appreciated by family offices and accredited investors.
Vision
"The infustructure of private capital"
"DFX is creating the future ecosystem for deal-makers"
To redefine how capital connects by building the most trusted relationship-driven ecosystem for founders, investors, and ecosystem leaders—creating the infrastructure for private capital with greater transparency and integrity.
Our vision is to create a world where every private capital deal, every private investor, and every direct lender converge on a single platform—Deal Flow Xchange (DFX). We see this as a revolution, disrupting the status quo of private capital where high fees and slow progress have been the norm. By breaking down these barriers, we're ushering in a new era of efficiency, accessibility, and opportunity for all stakeholders in the private capital ecosystem.

Who likes sports?

You’re the coach now, not the star player.

The play	A skill. Your AI runs it by name, the same way every time.
The playbook	Your SOPs. The same plays, written for a human teammate.
Game tape	Friday review. Watch what ran, fix the play.
The new signing	A hire who learns the playbook, not what’s in your head.

At $40M ARR, every team member at Stan gets a $5,000 credit card on day one.

There is only one rule: spend it like it is your own money.

Requiring approval for a $20 subscription is an invisible tax on execution.

1. Trust

The foundation of any successful team is trust.

You cannot say you trust someone to build the company, then make them beg for a software license. Those two things do not belong in the same sentence.

2. Efficiency

When an engineer waits days for a tool because it needs sign-off, you're paying for that delay even though it never shows up on an invoice.

Multiply that across 60 people, and you lose hours every week to approvals instead of shipping.

You need Claude, buy it.
You need ChatGPT, buy it too.

Buy whatever gets the job done and spare everyone the mental load of debating receipts.

3. Support

A team member standing at a bus stop in the snow after a late night does not sit right with me.

The card is there so they can take an Uber home in the cold, or order dinner when they are in flow.

The approval process costs far more in lost momentum than any mistake someone might make with the card.
